Privacy notice

The Commission for Children and Young People and Child Guardian Act 2000 allows the collection of personal information to assess your eligibility to be issued with a blue card.

Information will be provided to the Queensland Police Service, and may be provided to interstate or federal police, courts, prosecuting authorities or other authorised agencies to conduct criminal history checks.

Information may also be given to:

- certain disciplinary bodies to obtain relevant disciplinary information; and/or
- your employer, any supervisory body, or other person you have authorised to discuss your application on your behalf.

Personal information will only be provided to other persons or agencies where required by law.

Advice about your blue card's validity may also be provided through the Commission's online blue card verification process.

Once this transfer form has been submitted and processed, the Commission will send you a paid (P) blue card which will be valid for an additional three years.

You can use your new P blue card for any other paid or unpaid child-related work you provide, without having to pay any additional fees.

You must advise the Commission of all organisations (including volunteer organisations) where you provide child-related work by submitting a completed Authorisation to confirm a valid blue card form. There is no fee to authorise additional employers.
